98 Degrees
"Take My Breath Away"

Visit "Take My Breath Away" on MotoLyrics.com

Ooh yeah, ooh, oh yeah oh yeah
If I had castles built on high
I'd find a million ways to write your name against the sky
Just to let you know, you've caught my eye
And if I had more than wealth could buy
I'd sell it all and start again for just a chance with you
Girl, I'd give my all to win your love

And I would be rich
And I would built all my world around you just to show you
How you take my breath away
And you would find love, sweet lady
Nobody else this side of heaven knows
How you take my breath away

If I could turn the day to night
If I had faith to walk on water maybe you would see
The reason I thank God for miracles
'Cause baby when you walked into sight
You turned an ordinary man like me into a king
I would do anything to win your love

And I would be rich
And I would built all my world around you just to show you
How you take my breath away
And you would find love, sweet lady
Nobody else this side of heaven knows
How you take my breath away

I think there's something here worth sayin'
I don't want to scare you
So let me make my wish and hope that you believe
In simple love, like I do
Say that it's true, baby 'cause you've got me shakin'
My breath has now been taken
I've got to overcome this achin' to win your love

And I would be rich
And I would built all my world around you just to show

you
How you take my breath away
And you would find love, sweet lady
Nobody else this side of heaven knows
How you take my breath away
Take my breath, take my breath

How you take my breath away
Take my breath, take my breath
How you take my breath away

And I would be rich
And I would built all my world around you just to show
you
How you take my breath away
Take my breath, take my breath
Nobody else this side of heaven knows
How you take my breath away
And I would be rich