Lonely.

That's not how we were meant to be.

Lookin' in your eyes I see

A heart that was abandoned by a world that used to show you love

You feel like you're the only one

Whose day begins without the sun

You live to turn and face it all alone

Well I know sometimes it seems as if

Your faith has turned you wrong

If you look inside your heart you'll find the strength to carry on

You gotta leave it all behind you

Break through those lonely chains that bind you

Cuz love's not far away

It's gonna find your heart someday

And when you feel its warmth surround you

You'll realize that love has found you

So turn away your fears

Cuz the love that you've been looking for is here

Suddenly

Your broken heart begins to see

A love that lasts eternally

Just look ahead and never ever let a single tear drop from your eye

It breaks my heart to see you cry

The pain that haunts you every night

Because of all the emptiness inside

Well I know sometimes it seems as if

Your heart is caving in

But if we look inside your soul we'll find the Love we have within

But

You gotta leave it all behind you

Break through those lonely chains that bind you

Cuz love's not far away

It's gonna find your heart someday

And when you feel its warmth surround you

You'll realize that love has found you
So turn away your fears
Cuz the love that you've been looking for is here

I know sometimes when things go wrong
You search for strength to carry on
When all you need to take control
Is the love within my soul
But you know that love will find a way
To reach your heart again someday
You must believe it's true
Now all you have to do
Well

You gotta leave it all behind you-acapo
