At the end of the day's cross-roads you'll be waiting ahead of me someday, the feelings of happiness i had,
lessens the feelings of loneliness you gave me.

From here on, no matter what kind of road I tread it will surely lead to you.

Our meeting place will always give off a scent of happiness,
every step i take lights up.
I told you, "I like you",
I said so because I really do
In my heart i want say thank you.

It's so precious, that I've come to know, that those separated will come into contact again Your smile is so memorable that i want to protect it despite being broken slowly

Even so, you clasp my hand tight, not intending to let go

Our meeting place will always give off a scent of happiness every step you take lights up
i told you, "i like you",
I said so because i really do
I pray that this feeling won't fade away

With just this one feeling, different words come out because i feel a more deep love inside.

Before me, you're there;
Before you, I am there;
There won't be anyone in the place just for us.
I gave my everything there
And learned of peace

No more, don't go anywhere

Our meeting place will always give off a scent of happiness
every step i take lights up
I told you, "I like you",
i said so because I really do
in my heart i want say thank you
