I remember you...

Here in the place where we first met (so long ago) so long ago

A smile (a smile), and a face I can't forget

But that was long ago

In this town (in this town), we shared some history

As I look around, I remember how we used to be

All the things he told me

The way he used to hold me then

And from now till forever more (forever more)

He won't hold me anymore

Oh, is this the way that it's gonna be?

He won't come back to me... come to me!

I walk alone on winter nights

Where we met, we would savor familiar sights

Those given weeks were memories

Those kisses caress his sensitivity

And from now, till forever more

I remember the one I used to love...
