Blood churning thru my veins.letting you take the reins they say your the one that tames never the one that blames you light the flames within me now there burning out of control your patient hands temper the fire burning deep in my soul turning the flames to red hot coal cus taming me is your only goal blood churning you see me turning the flames burning deeper becoming all that is concerning cus your learning your not able to reach your goal flames keep burning out of control you never tame my soul blood churning thru my veins forever burning
