(talking)

Check your boy out man

We operating on our low desires, listen

[Hook]

Ain't it funny, how things go

The more you live, you deal with parts of life you didn't know

Chasing dreams, and over nothing going on a limb

You bringing others in your troubles, jepordizing them the question is

Ain't it funny, and kinda strange

Just when you think you got it figured out, the game change

Mama said, what'll make you laugh will make you cry

Living and knowing we ain't perfect, but we gotta try

[K-Rino]

Lil' sister was fast growing up, nothing could hold her

Thugs attracted her, her own mother couldn't control her

Big brother knew the game, and everytime that he seen her he told her

Concentrate on other things, focus on men when you're older

She met a hustler, who was bad news and everyone sensed it

Some of her friends knew his history, and they warned her against it

She wasn't tripping, cause his lifestyle and his money had trapped her

But the first time that she went against the grain, he slapped her

And beat her down like a man, threw hew clothes in the street

Told her brother and with tears in his eyes, he loaded his piece

And came searching for that coward, went straight to his hood

Ready to sacrifice his own freedom, for the love of his blood

When he caught him he pistol whooped him, shot holes in his Benz
Went to jail attempted murder, fifteen years in the Pen
But for his kin, if he had to do it again he'd still get him
He wasn't gone for a month, and his lil' sister was right back with him

[K-Rino]

You met a young lady, who still possessed the mind of a girl
Full of love and trust, but sheltered and not lead to the world
Saving herself, the kind that no man was supposed to touch
Inexperienced, and had never been exposed to much Fed her some game and reeled her in fast, you was the first
Instead of bringing out the best in her, you reach for the worst
Heavily influenced by love, she did whatever he said
He talked her in to letting another female, into the bed
Trying to live out fantasies, with a wife who was down But what you thought you wanted, back-fired and got switched around
Didn't know, the other female was a veteran too
Who was able to do a few things, better than you Now your girl starts to doubt you, it's no longer about you
You get home from work, and they already done started without you
You on the outside looking in, was fly and conceded
Your wife got turned out, and it's obvious you no longer needed

[Hook]

[K-Rino]

Over time, long relationships start to fail
Use to be easy to distinguish, now it's hard to tell
Who is real and who is counterfeit, the truth from lies People you thought you really knew, start showing other sides
Claiming it's love but come up missing, when it's time to show
Grew up together, now you treating me like I'm the foe
Know all your secrets all the dirt you did, but kept it well
And even if we turned to enemies, still wouldn't tell Blood sweat and tears, are mandatory that's the price
How you gon reap life's benefits, without a sacrifice

Trust in that you gotta scuffle, to come up and stack You bout to crack, because you gave all and got nothing back
How come our children are so angry now, and quick to bust
They disappointed in this B-S, that they get from us But you'll die, if unjustified or you seek Elijah said, think five times before you speak yeah
