

Robyn Hitchcock

"Tram Of Old London"

Visit "Tram Of Old London" on MotoLyrics.com

Trams of Old London
Taking my baby into the past
And it's trams of Old London
Blow my mind

Ludgate, Fenchurch, Highgate Hill
Rolling slowly up there still, uh huh
Waterloo and Clerkenwell
Out to Aldgate East as well, uh huh

On a clear night you can see
Where the rails used to be
Oh, it seems like ancient myth
They once ran to Hammersmith

Trams of Old London
Taking my baby into the past
And it's trams of Old London
Blow my mind

Through Electric Avenue
Brixton down in South West too, uh huh
Teddington and Kennington
Twickenham and Paddington, uh huh

In the blitz they never closed
Though they blew up half the roads
Oh, it hurts me just to see 'em
Going dead in a museum

Trams of Old London
Taking my baby into the past
And it's trams of Old London
Blow my mind

Trams of Old London
Taking my baby into the past
And it's trams of Old London
Blow my mind

