

Robyn Hitchcock & The Egyptians

"She Doesn't Exist"

Visit "She Doesn't Exist" on MotoLyrics.com

I used to ring you and put down the phone
Once wore a hole in your dress
Even tried voodoo right outside your home
But these days I just couldn't care less

She doesn't exist anymore
She doesn't exist anymore

I let her go like the fool that I was Thought I'd get over her soon
I smell her perfume when my eyes are closed
And I see her face in the moon

But she doesn't exist anymore
She doesn't exist anymore

I tell myself it would be different now
I wouldn't treat her that way
I wouldn't be me if she wasn't her
And it's far too late anyway

And she doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, la, lala)
She doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, lala, la, la, la, la, lala)

Only inside you the ghost of a love
That is wordless and painful and old
There's no one else in the whole outside world
That matches to her in your soul

But she doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, la, lala)
She doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, lala, la, la, la, la, lala)

She doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, la, lala)
She doesn't exist anymore
(La, la, lala, la, la, la, la, lala)

