You're the love of my life

Is there any way I can get to see you?
Have a cup of coffee maybe somethin' like that I was in a maze of buildings runnin' all around like a rat
In the middle of the night

All of those years that I got lost without you
Tracking the equator all the way to the north pole Looking for a home or dead end to this longing in my soul
Honey, you were my friend, if the truth be told

I can understand though if you don't remember
All you have to do is say the word and I'll go
This is just a dream that I've been holding onto God
I don't know it's so hard to let it come

You're the one that I want
