it's funny how time can fly
when body and soul collide it's a feeling so right it's a whisper inside
so clear
that tells me
we will always
we will always be

closer than skin
forever we've been
into each other again and again
never apart
joined at the heart
into each other we're falling

are we going too far to fast i would really like to see this last i wanna take it in stride but i'm going going gone
this time
so just tell me
we will always
we will always be

forever we've been
never apart
joined at the heart

we're calling through a cloudless sky as we leave the world behind

forever we've been
never apart

into each other we're falling...
