I found you with a broken heart
I couldn't help but want you to myself
I'll fix you when you fall apart
But you said you're no good for someone else

But I don't believe
When you say you think you're better on your own
But why can't you see?
I'm too in love for me to let you be alone

So take your time
But change your mind
Take your time
But change your mind

Your guard is up the line is drawn
But darlin' I would never do you wrong
So make a choice, right here and now
Don't wait until your life starts slowing down

But I don't believe
When you say you think you're better on your own
But why can't you see?

I'm too in love for me to let you be alone

So take your time
But change your mind
Take your time
But change your mind

You're cruel to hide your secrets
Who ya running from now?
Choosing ways to fool them
From finding out
That you've got no intention to love them
With one foot out the front door
Wait until they've hopelessly fallen
Then leave them wanting you more

But I don't believe

When you say you think you're better on your own
But why can't you see?
I'm too in love for me to let you be alone

So take your time
But change your mind
Take your time
But change your mind
