My Apathy is an illusion
It Isn't really there
It seems like I don't pay attention
But I really truly care
Just believe that I love you
Read my mind through your doubt
I cant help my lack of emotion
I'm no better without
You and Your Sincerity

I love you just like the sun loves the sky
Even when clouds take over and rain brokenness inside
I can't help but care for you so don't worry please
Look past my apathy

I love you like Jack loved Jill
But with a greater heart
I wont let you come tumbling after
Unless I play my part
Of picking you up at the bottom
To get to the top again
To fetch our pail of water
And heal the hurt within
To show you that I care

I love you just like the sun loves the sky
Even when clouds take over and rain brokenness inside
I can't help but care for you so don't worry please
Look past my apathy

Please be indifferent to my indifference
Just Let it go
As long you know
That I love you (and I'll never let you go)

I love you just like the sun loves the sky
Even when clouds take over and rain brokenness inside
I can't help but care for you so don't worry please
Look past my apathy
