Cheese and onion sandwiches and Derby chinaware fiddles and jigs and boogie my dog, Auntie Vee having a swear taking my dad for a pint or two, a sunday morning stroll licorice pipes and baggy suits, Glen Hoddle scoring a goal catching a pike and riding my bike, old wooden wheels and a bowl of eels yes, that's what I like boy that's what I like pie and mash and liquor, walking about in the rain William books and comical looks, pianos trams and trains coals and cockles and thunder storms, a place on the wallace and ow grandfather clocks and coke and brandy fountain pens and Beano and Dandy

that's what I like I said, that's what I like little pubs out in the country, mother pearl and Barnet Faire

the sound of the banjo barbershop singing and having a kip in the chair burning toast a beer from the wood and old terry thomas' teeth
Jerry and Chet and Cannon & Ball, a banjo picking bill keith and old bungalows wood burning stoves and Shirley MacLaine and Petticoat Lane

that's what I like,
said that's what I like yes, boy yes that's just a...

bubble and squeak and jumble sales, Little Richard and

Jerry Lee

bonfire night and Southend nights, paddle in the sea polished brass and copper, salvation army bands violins and old coach inns, and colored elastic bands tea in the morning and winter beginning fishing rods and frogs and spurs and winning years

that's what I like
hey, that's what I like decorations off in the bases, going down hopping in Kent

a new pair of braces little kids faces sleeping under the tin and wagons chickens and picking blackberries and swallows and sledges and Devon and jerries and haddock and trotters horses and knickers and cider and celery and banjoes and kippers yeah, that's I like boy that's what I like
