Deep inside my heart where it hurts the best
Hit me like a poison dart on my open chest
Oh, I admit that it hurts
To say the worst
And I feel like dirt to say the rest

Started in the school back in seventh grade
With braces and so cool to be exactly the same
Shout what the people will hear
Conform then disappear
Hurrah, it got me where I am today

Living off of sandcastles and thing from before
The times I wish I never had had
Crumbling into the sea is hard to ignore
At least I still have guts to laugh
(Guts to laugh)

Fifteen and a half and feeling dumb
Waiting for the peace of mind to finally come
Stomping the rake, eat the bitter cake
Or do I smile until the trips and falls
Are practically gone?

Living off of sandcastles and things from before
The times I wish I never had had
Crumbling into the sea is hard to ignore
At least I still have guts to laugh
I still have guts to laugh
