If I had a chance for just one help
It'll be now, I can't go any further
I don't want to stop, when time is chasing
And it's a matter of time till' this comes to an end

You look down, like it's not a part of you
You acted like a clown, you were the only happy one I knew
And now you're looking down at me
And where's the help when I need it?
No one seems to understand this as an emergency
No one tries to care or demand any urgency
They don't care about me anymore

If I can enhance one moment
It'll be now, I can't resist it
I don't want to stop, but I think of giving up
And it's about time, I'll be starting

You look down, like it's not a part of you
You acted like a clown, you were the only happy one I
knew
And now you're looking down at me
And where's the help when I need it?
No one seems to understand this as an emergency
No one tries to care or demand any urgency
They don't care about me anymore

Take me or leave me, I know you'll choose to leave me
It's not clear, and I can't see, I know there's one reason
It's that you hate me, when I need help

You look down, like it's not a part of you (You look down at me)
You acted like a clown, you were the only happy one I
knew
And now you're looking down at me
And where's the help when I need it?
No one seems to understand this as an emergency
No one tries to care or demand any urgency
They don't care about me anymore

You never even try to relate
