Remember when you walked away?
Seems like yesterday
You were here to stay

You wore your favourite dress last night; for him and not for me
Oh, do you know how that feels?
You looked at me across the bar, with the guilt showing in your eyes
We both freeze as we stare, there's something there
That can't let go of this

You've had so many lovers since we parted
They never last,
That's why you still haunt me when you cast your spell...

Is it because there's no one left to love?
No one left to hold
So many times we've tried; so many times you've lied
You've got no one left to love
You've been through them all
Then you come to me, when you're lonely
Coz there's no one left to love

I saw your status, just the other day and I scrolled down the page
But I can't help from clicking on your face
I check up on you daily, to see your next victim Who's the next guy to be fooled, to be played and overruled?

Your friends, they make me out like I'm crazy
Oh you gotta 'keep your distance'
If they knew what's inside your heart
That it's me you've loved from the start

But when you've had enough of my heart
That's when you walk away
That's why you still haunt me when you call to say...

There's no one left to love

So many times we've tried; so many times you've lied
You've been through them all
Then you come to me, when you're lonely

So you're back to square one
Hoping that I'll take you back
But I won't take you back, no...

You've had so many lovers since we parted
And they never last
That's why you still haunt me when you cast your spell...

Is it because there's no one left to love?
So many times we've tried; so many times you've lied
You've been through them all
Then you come to me, when you're lonely

Is it because there's no one left to love?
No one left to hold,
So many times we've tried; so many times you've lied
You've been through them all
Then you come to me, when you're lonely

There's no one left...
