if you don't lend a hand when a hand needs lending who will
if you don't help your friends when the need befriending who will when nothing goes right and everything's wrong when the days are too cold and the nights are too long if you won't be there to stand and be strong who will if you don't risk your neck when a risk needs taking

who will
if you don't brake the rules when the rules needs breaking who will you gotta be tough and forthright and square you can't hide your head and pretend you're not there if we don't fight for what's right and what's fair
who will

everyone has a hero hiding deep inside waiting to appear but there is no time left to hide the moment is now the place is here

who will risk life and limb just to help a stranger i will who will walk through the dark even though there's danger i will who'll stay by your side and take up the cause who'll give you his strength his heart and his paws who'll be your back your buddy
your friend
we will

fievel and nellie and tony and tiger
