you can the shell of your illusions but you still don't wanna climb inside nothing ever turns out to be exactly what you thought it might I'm lying in the same position every night in this same room, two years now the alarm set to the time i will wake and spill out another horrible fire but i hold it alone grab a hold and incite you can see the shell of your illusion
this time it might,
