little spring you know that when our world ends
the next one will begin neon eyes again, little spring i think you always held the key i jumped the fence, i had to steal it in your holy house, i cleaned the floor left a note spelled out forever you gave me a girl, i gave you a boy yeah we were faster than camaros side by side on down the highway line engines hum familiar songs

i loosened up my tourniquet and i raced my blood up to the crest i held my breath at the speed of light scenery goes rushing by can't wait, can't wait 'til we collide years flew by and i caught the door once or twice i thought to take it somedays it's hard to be alive up is the only way of giving and every time i'm at my end you come to me with cool, clean water

curls will swing again, little spring

light behind neon eyes

never learned to die can't wait, can't wait till we collide
