"At The Speed Of Light"

No more latitude
No voices from above
Straight as an arrow, around you go
The future lies before you
When you're looking back
Ascend to the ultimate altitude
Stay in the minds of the ones you leave behind
There is no point of return
You'll get to the truth from a different kind of view
When cruising of the road...
At the speed of light

No more longitude
No shadows from below
Forget the crusaders of high and low
Try to ignore
What you know for sure
Descend to the ultimate solitude

Don't underestimate
Your power to create
What you think is what you live and learn
When you reach the end
You're back to where you started
This is the world of the absolute
