Existence no more, once and for all
Have mercy, times up, behind the prison wall
Compassion run dry, the final call
Injection, rejection, go and take the fall

One by one, watch them go to the silent chamber
Step by step, watch them go
It doesn't matter what you are
It doesn't matter what you did
It only matters who's the boss in the factory

One by one, knocking at the gates of eden
Step by step, no one answers for the lonely ones
It doesn't matter if it's wrong
It doesn't matter if it's right
It only matters who's the boss in the factory

Who's to blame for an endless war?
What's the point of enemy

Who's deciding the final score?
In the world of pain and power, who can find something
Right to say?
There's a price for the games we play

It's a circus of degradation, whe they try to put our Fears in chains
How many times can a soul be slain?
Who's the king of humiliation? When it's time to pay the Bill
Who's in charge when it's time to make the kill

One by one, standing in line for determination
Step by step, see it happens with our consent
It doesn't matter what you are
It doesn't matter what you did
It only matters who's the boss in the factory
