Home, at last
Seems like I made it
Bend out of shape
Not much to play with, intact.

Now, and again
It seems to be helping
If I stay awake
And you are alone in your bed.

I can hear the cracks after every spin
It's hard enough to sleep under all this skin
And I don't make a fuss out of anything.

Off to bed
Feel like forever
I cannot wait
Not to be scared of myself.

I can hear the cracks after every spin
It's hard enough to sleep under all this skin
And I don't make a fuss out of anything.

This time, just promise it's going to take me away.
