they found this other old hippy named sleepy john he claimed to be the one from the robert earle keen song so they gave him all their cash he bought them some brews it was a beautiful day out in santa cruz
they were feeling so good should have been a crime the crowd was cool and the band was prime they made back up front to their seats in time so they could sing with all their friends they say the road goes on for ever and the party never ends
