I feel numb
I've realized you're not the body I knew once
You're on top
But on the outside you are everything I'm not
But if I
Let you take another toll I'll lose control

Can't take it in, refuse to let you through to my skin
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe in
I'm wearing thin, you've worn me down, I've let you in
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe
In comes all the hurt, push it out
I think I'm cursed

So now
You've gone and cut the strings that held us into place
Even though
A place so hard to find should never feel unsafe
It couldn't be a more frustrating situation to be in

Can't take it in, refuse to let you through to my skin
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe in
I'm wearing thin, you've worn me down, I've let you in
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe
In comes all the hurt, push it out
I think I'm cursed

Can't take it in, refuse to let you through to my skin
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe in
I'm wearing thin, you've worn me down, I've let you in
Won't take it in, your breath won't let me breathe
In comes all the hurt, push it out
I think I'm cursed
