there was light in the room then you left and it was through then the frost started in my toes and fingertips and it spread into my heart then for I don't know how long I settled in to doing wrong and as the wind fills the sail came the thought to hurt my self and it spread into my home and it spread

and it spread into my soul well there are no lines separating the truth from the lie then you came back from space with a brand new laugh and a different space you took my hand and held it up and shot my arm full of love

and it spread into the world
