L know how it feels to be alive with no desire to live
L know how it feels to die inside and try hard to forgive
And my way of finding out is 'cos a love just let me down
Ln a world so full of love, yet not enough to go around

L was once so proud to have her love
That I could burst with pride
But that sunshine turned to storm
And now that's all I feel inside
L'ts enough to make me wish
That I could hide and not be found
Ln a world so full of love yet not enough to go around

L could sit for days and wonder and not find the answer still
By the time I die I wonder if by then I even will L must live to be a hundred if I hope to live it down
Ln a world so full of love yet not enough to go around
