No one can do the things you do,
no one 'round here.
robot? and industrious voodoo
on all the window shades.

see, people be undivided?
you open your window pane
look into your little garden.
you're the seed and I am the planter,
just you and I.
roll through poppies and oleander
on all the window shade

see, people be undivided?
you open your window pane
and into your little garden
no one is broken.
no one I see.

but when the falcon settles me,
then I know I'm right.
if your good looks could settle me,
then I know I'm right.

and when the falcon settles me,
then I know I'm right.
if your good looks could settle me,
then I know I'm right
