I don't know where life's going, don't know what we'll find this restlessness keeps growing, we're running out of time

I don't know life's direction, just choose by choice of chance but true love and affection, is only caused by coincidence

I can read it in your eyes now, you're lost and you're confused
let the feeling grow inside us, we got no time to loose

We can built this life together, we can make it if we try and stay in love forever, never say good bye

I can read it in your eyes now, you're lost and you're confused
let the feeling grow inside us, we got no time to loose

I can read it in your eyes now, you're lost and you're confused
let the feeling grow inside us, we got no time to loose

I don't know where life's going..
