I love the way you talk to me
Like no one that I talk to ever does
You know me so completely
You never try to prove me wrong
It's funny how you always play along
(Even when you don't believe me)

And I've tried but I can't pretend
That this is nothing more than friends
Well maybe it's right

(Cuz baby) we've been searching all this time
For something we may never find
It should've been so obvious to see
This may not be the perfect love
That we have both been dreaming of
But I've been thinking lately
We could be the best plan B

I've figured it out all by now
All there is to know about love
(and it never came so easy)
And everything I felt 'til now
Is proven wrong cause somehow there you are (standing right before me)

And you don't lie and you don't try too hard
And never make it all about you
Well maybe it's right

We both walk the finest line
Between letting it go and trying to hide
There's no use waiting for a sign
Let's give it a try
