Kevin Gilbert

"When You Give Your Love To Me"

IÂ've been thinkinÂ' about this for the last three days
I donÂ't think that I am deluding myself
I donÂ't think that this is just a phase
I donÂ't mean to shock you
I hope that I am not rushing in
I think that this is kind of important
I donÂ't know where exactly to begin

My whole life has been a constant ailment
You can provide a simple remedy
Yea, IÂ'm gonna show some vast improvements
When you give your love to me

And you can trust that I am a worthy recipient
And be assured IÂ'll act responsibly
IÂ'll treat it like a work of rare and priceless art
When you give your love to me

So howÂ's about it girlfriend
Am I gonna have to twist your arm?
Perhaps itÂ's not the most original concept
It has a kind of timeless charm

YouÂ'll have the little birds flyinÂ' around your head
And youÂ'll gaze at me dreamily
Yea, the whole world will smile and wave
When you give your love to me

And I will write you a hundred sonnets
And every word will rhyme easily
And all your friends will be genuinely supportive
When you give your love to me

IÂ'm sick of hearing about sadness
IÂ'm sick of violent crime
IÂ'm sick of angry, militant, lesbian feminists
IÂ'm sick of imperfect rhyme

IÂ've always heard that we should love one another
And what a fine example we will be
AnÂ' maybe we can start a trend or something

When you give your love to me

And maybe then weÂ'll get our friends together
And theyÂ'll all get along famously
I think that everyone will feel much better
When you give you love to me

ThereÂ'll be global peace and religious tolerance
Ominous brothers in a world thatÂ's free
There will be a perfect cosmic harmonic convergence
When you give your love to me

Oo Oh when you give your love to me
Oo Oh
Oo Oh when you give your love to me
When you give your love to me (fade)