One more night, hold on tight
Can't let him break my heart again
Tell myself there's no else
Even though I know it's just pretend
Somehow I'll make it through
Another sleepless night
Knowing that it won't take much
For him to make it right

He's my weakness
In his arms, he steals my heart away
I'm defenseless
'Cause deep inside
I know he'll never stay
And yet I just can't let him go
At least I'm strong enough to know
That he's my weakness

In his eyes, foolish lies
And still I make myself believe
Loving him, I can't win
And day by day it's killing me
Each night I tell myself
That I can make him change
But all he does is touch me
And I want him just the same

He's my weakness
In his arms he steals my heart away
I'm defenseless
But deep inside I know he'll never stay
And yet I just can't let him go
At least I'm strong enough to know
That he's my weakness
