

Ron Pope

"Reason To Hope"

Visit "Reason To Hope" on MotoLyrics.com

Reason To Hope

I gave away more than I had in the blinding cold, casket black when the sun
Went down never did return.
Like gasoline on an open flame, light up so bright then burn away.
If I fall apart,
Look the other way...

When all the things I need feel just like a dream
And every breath I breathe is so hard

Well I just want a reason to hope
A reason to know that I should still be here
Maybe just a glimpse of the light, a patch of blue sky
Something to believe in
I just want a reason to hope
Want a reason that I should not let go
I want a reason to hope

An it's hard to say times are bad cause it's been much worse, and I know that
But from all I've seen these days are awful hard
And the prays came slow for me at first, then the dame broke down and the Rivers surged
I am on my knees wondering what it's worth

And all things I need feel just like a dream
And so every breath I breathe is so hard

Well I just want a reason to hope
A reason to know that I should still be here
Maybe just a glimpse of the light, a patch of blue sky
Something to believe in
I just want a reason to hope
Want a reason that I should not let go
I want a reason to hope

And I said hold up
It's alright if you don't see open your eyes
If you fall down I will pick you up

Well I just want a reason to hope
A reason to know that I should still be here
Maybe just a glimpse of the light, a patch of blue sky
Something to believe in
I just want a reason to hope
Want a reason that I should not let go
I want a reason to hope

And I said hold up
It's alright if you don't see open your eyes
If you fall down I will pick you up

Visit Ron Pope page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.