"Watch You Leave"

Tonight, tonight you've caught me
Without proper words to say
Without you all alone, I'm so tired yet so awake
Cos you were my obsession and I needed direction
To show you who I'm meant to be
But now it's your opinion that you're one in a million
And I can't have you for now or all eternity

Right from the start you had my heart
I fall apart when I watch you go
I've set you free but you don't believe
I'm torn apart when I watch you leave

It goes on and on forever, still my happiness wont show
I wrote this song for you, but it's clear you'll never know
That you're my inspiration and I tried to be patient
But I can't live without you near
You've taken me for granted and I just can't stand it
You've left me here with these empty promises

Right from the start you had my heart
I fall apart when I watch you go
I've set you free but you don't believe
I'm torn apart when I watch you leave
