Staring down these days ahead
And the days gone by
All these regrets
Best make room for love

Seems we're always racing
With trouble too close behind
We may never win
But where there's still hope

There's still time

Why blame ourselves at all
For promises we never made
Though I'd blame myself
If I should lose your love

It's always some bridge to cross
Or some mountain to climb
But all is not lost
Sure as the stars above

There's still time

Still time to find what we've been looking for
Still time to find out there's no need
To search anymore, for love

Staring down these days ahead
And the days gone by
All these regrets
Best make room for love

There's still time

(Still time)
Still time, still time
(Still time)
