boy i tried to write a letter i just need to make things better and i praying you'll let me work this out i tried to call you on your phone but it seems your not at home this is something we have to talk about here i am finally face to face heres what im trying to say what was i thinking baby
i should have seen the writing on the wall i never thought you'd ever leave me now i know
what were you trying to tell me i thought about everything you said ever since you walked away boy
now i know
theres no other way to say it baby lets please not delay it and i know you feel the same its in your eyes since you've gone my hearts been missing and i hope that you will listen oh without you i wont make it one more night take me back i was such a fool dying without you

never thought you'd ever leave me
i thought about everything you said since you walked away
