All these years I thought I wanted some closure
Now I know that I wanted so much fucking more!

Now I find I've been losing my mind
I've been looking for the vital connection
All these years looking from behind
I've been yearning for a source of redemption

I need to find these chains, they're an eternal bind

Broken glass, it dissects the heart
Through my failures I've been torn apart
I've spent this lifetime living in dreams
Now I'm coming apart at the seams

I've spent a lifetime
Living in my dreams

An eternity spent, I been trying to find
The missing pieces and a piece of mind
A world in torment, I'm surviving the pain
Continuous feelings that I'm going insane

These memories cut like broken, fucking glass

Like broken glass, with these scars
Like broken glass, with these scars

You've left me with these scars

Back from, this separation
Yearn for, liquid sedation
Now I'm, frozen in the past
These dreams, will never fucking last
