All my things are packed in the car I'm 'bout to drive away somewhere far from you gonna leave this place and hope I start anew
but pictures of you are frozen yet in time and every single fear of being without you closes in my mind
the colors fade
the edges grey the dialog begins to play (of) all the things we should have done
and now my heart must say goodbye to all I ever wanted but I'm still haunted by you

I finally settled into a brand new place and try to clear my mind put a smile on my face and now the only thing I, I can't erase is you But pictures of you still linger in my mind Are frozen here I feel that they're still frozen after all this time
the colors fade
the edges grey
the dialog begins to play all the things we should have done
and now my heart must say goodbye
by you
