I am far gone.
I can't chase it anymore.
I've gone too far.
I know the damage has been done.
So, join the damned, stand with us.
Prove yourself, it's all that matters.
Twist yourself, create a disease.
Release yourself, it's all that matters.
She always spoke truth - at least to you.
I'll never forget all the things that we've been through.
I have no pain - it left me cold sometime back.
I sometimes wish that somehow I could call it back.
Take her blue eyes - and turn them to the darkest
black.
Close her blue eyes - and turn them to the darkest black.
