One life, one road less traveled on filled with memories
and friends.

Two know or never know your part or how the story
ends

How the stars they twinkle now, as you step into the light.

And you turn to take your bow, but it's life and you take a bite.

You're the chosen one and within you the legends live
on

And the stars speak softly through your eyes.
One night, two hearts beating in a crowd driven by the heat

One chance, one time around to give and make your life complete

And who will know the love? Some people never see.

Who will know the love? Show me if you believe in the stars above it's written when we fall in love

and you believe this time now is ours.

Instrumental

It's like Oh!~!~!

Does anybody feel the beating heart? Does anybody need to share a spark?

Get it out here on some hard working line.

Is anybody gonna take a chance? Anybody holding some romance?

Get it out here on some hard working line.

And who will know the love? Some people never see.

Who will know the love? Show me if you believe

in the stars above it's written when we fall in love and you believe this time now is ours. Yes, you believe this time now, this time now, is ours.
