

Kiss My Jazz

"A Greater Loss Than Pain"

Visit "A Greater Loss Than Pain" on MotoLyrics.com

The perfect one-liners we shared, they're gone away
now
And the snapshots we took, they're stored away now
But the hotel rooms we shared, they're still the same
now
And there is no more anxiety when I hear your name
now
And I can talk about you as a normal person now yes I can

And somehow that's a pity
And somehow that's a pity
And somehow that sure is a pity

The perfect script we wrote, it's never been printed And all the promises we never made, we didn't keep
now
But the hotel rooms we shared, they're still the same
now
There's no more hate when I see your lover
And I can talk about you without howling at the moon

And that's even a greater loss
And that's even a greater loss
And that's even a greater loss than pain
And that's even a greater loss than pain
That's even a greater loss

And if we meet again we just act Like nothing ever happened

Visit Kiss My Jazz page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.