Are you lost in the valley?
Are you lost without me?
What's all this talk of losing anyway?
'Cause the spring, she is gaining Melts the snow that's remaining
And I watch winter go draining off in streams and out of me

Are you lost in the valley?
Is she making you happy?
Are you steady and ready to go?
I have faith in your meaning
I have faith in your dreaming
And I can feel when you're leaning a little my way
A little my way

I trust the cards will fall
If we carry on, we'll crumble these walls
And birds will fly south like words from our mouths
And love from our hearts that we felt from the start

Are you lost in the valley?
'Cause I'm still here in the city
And maybe that's the way it's supposed to be
I know you hear me when I sing
And see the same nights falling
And feel the love that I'm sending from far away
