Like a flower in a hurricane
A finger painting left out in the pouring rain Sweet words whispered on a subway train Wasted and lost
In all the noise

Beautiful
Breakable
Like a butterfly in an angry world
so breakable

She lies wide awake hearing their screams
When the front door slams she don't know what it means
Though she shuts her eyes the tears still stream Lonely and lost
In all the noise

Beautiful
Breakable
Like a butterfly in an angry world
so breakable

Beautiful
innocence in an angry world
so breakable

The heart is fragile handle with care
Hold it it's precious
There's treasure in there

Beautiful
Breakable
Like a butterfly in an angry world
so breakable

Beautiful innocence in an angry world so breakable
