"Pick Me Apart"

Sometimes I wonder if everything that created me will be satisfied with all that I create
I am frustrated by the future it seems fixated
I get faded til I don't care anymore
I stare at the floor from the ceiling, more appealing Than kneeling to a god I've never seen and Powerful people can deceive you Till you don't believe that this country was stolen from those who own it Turned totem poles to homeless broken souls
'cuz motherfuckers are greedy Leaving families needy and kids spray graffiti and smoke weed
I break laws like y'all broke treaties
So don't treat me like a different species
'Cuz I used to watch TV till my eyes was sore, and Some of y'all don't even believe in dinosaurs
There was a time before this was all?
Roads for cars and your mini ipods
And I came from bein' nothin' to breathin' Maybe if there's nothin' to being human and then there's nothing at all
I find it hard to comprehend and end a beginning
See I was born a christian but I gotta have it?
I don't know if Jesus can see us or if Islam's the truth See me rippin' out bible papers twistin' Buddha with intelligent youth
I'll make you prove to me that you was tellin' the truth
'Cuz kids in the ghetto turn to felons and troops
Either locked in cages or cockin' gauges
I be watchin' faces prayin' to God save us
And I say what I feel
I'm feelin', sadder than ever from the cloud scattered weather
Or the lack of the treasure

I be actin' whatever, crackin' a beverage while I'm rappin to trevor
Never let you discover 'cuz I'm still undercover Enough of the sheilds I keep it real
I don't give a fuck what you think

I'll let it sink through your heart like a kiss in the dark Touchin' my hair while you pick me apart
I used to drink in a park now I'm sittin' cozy
You don't know me or the woman that made my soul beat
I hold cold 4-0's of O.E.
And curse and spit with some stupid homies
While y'all talk politics sippin' a latte
You be bridging the gap but you missin' the walkway
I be on the valley floor yellin to churches
Who be fightin' these wars just to tell me my purpose?
It's worthless
