Dear friend and executioner

I fear you're too late

Note the damage i've already made

Painfully recalling all the words you never said

Can't take that feeling much more

Unless i'm coming up on chemicals and walking on shock corridor

No

Show no mercy no more

Is there anything worth dying for

You need to learn to forget by remembering a little more

So typically destructive

And yes your judgment is unqualified

I really wish that i could believe you but the truth is never easy to find

And even harder to hide
