You could handle most anything
But you threw it away
But you threw it away
You pursue your hometown strategies
Remove your hometown strategies

It's hard to see when you're on your guard
That my concern
Does not involve you
If you believe
That you're on your guard
But you lack a voice
And you have
You have no... choice
You have no choice

You were to clever by half and too stupid to notice
You never took time to understand your motive
Too clever by half and too stupid to notice
They never took time to understand your motive

It's hard to believe that you've no time for anything
And why can't you see that your hometown's not everything?

Everyone is on a roll
Searching for a purpose
Everybody wants one
Everything through,
Everybody's on a roll
Searching for a purpose
Everybody gets one
Never thought through

You could handle most anything
But you threw it away
But you threw it away
To pursue your hometown strategies
Remove your hometown strategies

It's hard to believe that you've no time for anything

And why can't you see that your hometown's not
everything?

Remove your hometown
