Setting an impossible goal, being unrealistic Too large effort, no talent to reach it Getting in there, into a perfect stage Just after the next improvement that still need some amendments How to define the highest level when the definition of level itself... Needs to meet and complete the highest standards available? Getting in there, into a perfect stage Just after the next improvement that still need some amendments Almost reaching the stage of total perfection Questionable ways to measure an absurd event as a whole How to define the highest level when the definition of level itself... Needs to meet and comlete the highest standards available? Setting an impossible goal, being unrealistic Too large effort, no talent to reach it Getting in there, into a perfect stage Just after the next improvement that still need some amendments Almost reaching the stage of total perfection Questionable ways to measure an absurd event as a whole
