The one and only liar lost his faith and cried where the broekn candles burn he gazed into the fire saw the truth and died and the wheels of time did turn and when the strangers meet to face my heart - my life - my tears inside in this world we know where do we go without pride? hey mister, can't you tell me why the bells call and the wheels of time will turn forever fear thesilence in my soul and the wheels of time will turn and never rest where golden dices roll and the wheels of time will turn forever's just a six-feet-under-hole the last and lonely hero lately passed away his ghost is ridin' on the wind destination zero

every single day he shares a smile with those who sinned and the wheels of time.....
