(All the time he had it on his mind)
I never thought he'd try to take you from me
A life my friend would never be that kind He make believe that he could never want you when all the time he had it on his mind
He had it on his mind all the time but kept telling me diesire had made me blind
As a friend he couldn't see how I could love you
When all the time he had it on his mind [steel]
Who think of times I've trusted you together
Now tomorrow the wedding bells will chime
To you and our best friend I'll be a stranger cause all
the time he had it on his mind
He had it on his mind...
Yes all the time he had it on his mind
