

Roy Drusky"The Worst Is Yet to Come"

Visit "The Worst Is Yet to Come" on MotoLyrics.com

(Liz Anderson)

I know the worst is yet to come.

Such a little time has passed since you went away Where are all the heartaches comin' from
I can hardly stand the pain of missin' you today
And I know the worst is yet to come.

If there was something I could find to drive these tears
from me
Then I'd go right out and get me one
I've already cried enough to fill the deep blue sea
And I know the worst is yet to come.

--- Instrumental ---

There'll be all those sleepless nights when I'll just lay and cry
And the hours will seem to have no end
There'll be days when it won't matter if I live or die
Wishin' I could have you back again.

If there was something I could find to drive these tears
from me
Then I'd go right out and get me one
I've already cried enough to fill the deep blue sea
And I know the worst is yet to come...

Visit Roy Drusky page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.