Call it the 'Quantum Effect'
Call it the crash and eject
Call up your mother collect
Tell her you lost your cassette
To the 80s and 90s
& I know maybe you'll find me
A reason to follow you blindly
But there's a past to remind me

Of the things we left behind
They're still here in my mind
If you seek then you will find
... what you're looking for

So I call it russian roulette
When the designated elect
They tell me what is correct
They tell me what to regret
But tell me what I expect?
When the world reflects
And image of a broken system
To busy to stop and listen
To the rush of air that whispers somethings missing
And even though it's written
Between the lines but never hidden
Twice bitten but never shy
Always hitting on the alibi
Of those smitten by
The dismissing eye
And then betrayed by the kissing lie
Always laughing reminiscing I
... recall...

The things we left behind
They're still here in my mind
If you seek then you will find
... what you're looking for

Call it the Quantum effect
And let the mirror reflect
Wave function collapse

Some entangled synapse
Post-modern relapse
I'm thinking maybe perhaps
It's the end of the world but the start of a life
The proverbial marriage of a man and his wife
How many scientist balance on the tip of a knife?
Let's watch the world rearrange
Cause observation will change
Both the end and the course
And the route and the source
But a shift in the circuits
Is just a matter of force
Just some constants on a Planck
Relativity to thank
Now we all know what it's like to be Schrodingers cat
But anyone can throw a strike when it's Casey at the bat

The things we left behind
They're still here in my mind
If you seek then you will find
... what you're looking for
(Repeat chorus)
